WINDROSE

The University of St. Michael's College

1981 - 1982

Windrose is a medieval cartographer's symbol for the source of the winds. In other words, it symbolizes something which gives direction. The title Windrose was chosen for this yearbook because its meaning is so closely linked with the meaning of St. Michael's College.

Let fate do her worst, there are relics of joy
Bright dreams of the past which she cannot destroy.
That come in the night-time of sorrow and care
And bring back the features that joy used to wear.
Long, long be my heart with such memories filled
As the vase in which roses have once been distilled.
You may break, you may shatter the vase if you will
But the scent of the roses will hang round it still.

St. Thomas More

That man is a success who has lived well, laughed often
and loved much.

R.L. Stevenson

Windrose '82 is dedicated to

Father John M. Kelly

Father Swan — President

Congratulations to Sharon Callendar and Paul Wainman for their valiant effort to revive WINDROSE. They will provide their classmates with a valuable record of the exciting years they have spent at St. Michael's and at Varsity. As alumni, they will often turn to this year-book, to revive fond recollections of an important phase of their lives.

In 1981 we marked the centennial of our formal association with the University of Toronto. Our connection was, at first somewhat tenuous: it has grown and strengthened over the years, first in Arts and Science, later in Mediaeval Studies and finally in Theology. St. Michael's is happy to have made its distinctive contribution to the richness and variety of the offerings of the University of Toronto. We hope that arrangements can be made to enable us to continue to do so in the future.

My best wishes to those who graduate in 1982: we shall follow your careers with interest. We trust that students in other years will take advantage of remaining years with us to acquire a deeper appreciation of the values which permeate St. Michael's and whose power to renew the face of the earth is inexhaustible.

Professor William Dunphy – Principal

"It was the best of times, it was the worst of times..."' With appropriate apologies to Charles Dickens, this quotation might, a decade or two in the future, sum up for some of you, a reflective assessment of your years spent here at St. Michael's College in the University of Toronto.

Specific memories of what items contributed to the first or to the second part of the quotation will, of course, vary with the individual. It seems a safe bet, though, to assume that discoveries of the joy of intellectual accomplishment, of a deeper, richer, religious faith, of the beginnings of life-long friendships, even love, and of a maturing, personal self-confidence, will all contribute to verify that your college years were indeed "the best of times." Truly traumatic experiences from those years are, of their very nature, quite individualistic, and, thank God, tend to diminish with the passage of time. However, we could all agree that five essay deadlines the same week, and final examinations scheduled during the week of Christmas are experiences we wish never to repeat again.

The editors of Windrose and the executive of SMCSU are to be congratulated for their initiatives in reviving this feature of college life, whose usefulness to you will increase as the years go by.

You will be able to point to the pictures that prove to your children and grand-children that indeed you went to school with this Prime Minister, or with that best-selling author, or famous scientist, or infamous scoundrel, etc., etc.

This pictorial record of your classmates will also enable you to perform flawless and unhesitating introductions at the many joyful homecoming weekends at your alma mater.

Most of all, however, it will help stimulate memories of what, on balance, will have been, if not the best of times, certainly one of the better times of your life.

PAT BUCKLEY—SMCSU PRESIDENT

Looking back, this has been a year full of new experiences and surprises, both politically and socially. SMCSU has attempted to take a more public and service oriented role which I think I can say we have succeeded in fulfilling, without, I hope, sounding too self-congratulatory. It has been a year, too, of beneficial co-operation between faculty, administration, alumni and students the further growth of a solid working relationship which I hope will get even stronger as time progresses.

St. Michael's has been very active this year with Friday night pubs, special theme pubs, student/faculty wine and cheeses, Casino Royale, the Double Blue Formal, Christmas festivities, St. Pat's famed frivolities, end of year bashes, luncheon lectures with stimulating speakers, Sunday post-mass coffee and doughnuts, Italian Week & year-wide activities, French and Celtic Club events, revived SMC theatre and Orientation's initiating diversions. SMC has been well-represented in debating as well as athletically (remember winning the Mulock Cup? - finally). The Mike has evolved into a top-notch campus paper which reflects the college community as well as the U of T campus community. Aspiring college literary genius has found an outlet in the Grammateoin while the life of the college has been espoused into the annals of time through the rejuvenation of Windrose, this worthy yearbook. SMCSU has been busy providing all this and more through hard work, challenges to the chair and the odd tear or two.

SMC has been very involved across campus with SAC, The Varsity, the newspaper and even Governing Council proclaiming prolific SMC membership. Our own residences have been active with formals and January's answer to Orientation - Winterfest. This year a la hoser.

I would like to thank the hardworking members of my executive for their unfailing support and reliability. I would also like to thank all members of the administration for their support, faith in me and constant good humour without which this job would have been even harder. A special thank you to Principal Dunphy, Fr. Kelly, Sharon and Paul for allowing a dream of mine to become a reality herein. Good luck to the graduates - sometime years from now we'll all laugh at how scared we are now. At least that is what people keep telling me. Not to be forgotten - thanks go to Catherine for surviving the massive confusion which comprises this office; to John for his support, patience and ability to add correctly; and finally to my friends without whom I'd have misplaced my sanity long ago!

With Affection and best wishes,
Patricia M. Buckley

St. Michael's College, U. of T. Affiliation-100th Anniversary

This year marks the 100th anniversary of the affiliation of St. Michael's College with the University of Toronto. The affiliation agreement of 1881 was an important event in the history of both St. Michael's and the University. For St. Michael's it constituted the first step toward university status; for the University of Toronto, it brought to an end a long period of isolation from a large sector of its constituency.

St. Michael's was founded by Bishop de Charbonnel in 1852 and placed under the direction of the Basilian Fathers. For many years the college served well the needs of young Catholic men, many of whom later entered the priesthood. Yet, because of its autonomous nature, St. Michael's was unable to provide a recognized university education to any of its students. Those wishing a university degree were compelled to either break with the college programme and prepare to take the university's matriculation examination or enter philosophy with the intention of transferring later to an American college. Shortly following Confederation, the college began to investigate the possibility of affiliation.

In 1879, Father John R. Teefy initiated conversations with Sir William Mulock, then vice-chancellor of the University. The matter came to the attention of the University senate in January 1881, and within a period of two months, St. Michael's College was officially affiliated with the University of Toronto.

The benefits of affiliation were very slow in developing. Although the agreement of 1881 was received with great enthusiasm, most college students continued to follow the old programme not leading to a degree. St. Michael's students who wished to proceed to a degree had to enroll as students of University College and, in theory, dissociate themselves from St. Michael's. This was not a popular arrangement; in fact, in the first 30 years of affiliation only nine students availed themselves of the university programme. It was not until 1910, when St. Michael's officially became a federated arts college in the University of Toronto, that the first St. Michael's class received degrees from the University.

Father John Kelly Director-Alumni Affairs

A few short years ago you were welcomed into the St. Michael's Community as an expectant freshman class. The cycle of your undergraduate days is now complete. The welcome is now replaced by a farewell. Your entrance was marked by hopes and challenges; hopes that you might share in all that St. Mike's has to offer, challenges that you would develop the talents and virtues that become the educated human being. Your departure stirs different emotions, poignant and wistful. In a real way, St. Michael's is saddened to see you leave. Perhaps more than you know, you have been St. Michael's during your years here. What is St. Michael's but a community ever renewed by successive generations of students under the guidance of a more abiding faculty and staff? A family? One would like to think so. The poignancy and wistfulness, one would also like to think, is not exclusive to the more abiding part of that family but shared by those whose tenure is shorter.

During your graduating year, an album of songs was recorded by the wife of one of our faculty and entitled farewell but whenever. That is probably the proper motif for the farewell from the office of Alumni Affairs. You will not be forgotten. The Class of '82 continued the revitalized tradition of close cooperation with the Alumni Association. St. Michael's is a better place because of it; a more closely knit family and an ever-expanding one. While care must be taken not to press analogies, the custodians of tradition sometimes liken your initiation into the College as a rite which signs you with the character of St. Michael's in the hope that your graduation will be the occasion for a deeper impression and confirmation of the character. You are now part of the St. Michael's tradition. We trust that you will add to its honor. Godspeed and farewell but whenever.

St. Michael's College - 1932

A. White (Sec.). J. Timmins (2nd Year Rep.). T. P. O'Connor (Pres.). J. Kelly (Vice-Pres.).

Graduating Class 1932 John Kelly

"Until my brains may better stuff devise."

Scranton harbored him until he finished High School, then St. Mike's to change any erring views. Entered General Course, but one year was enough. Changed to Philosophy in second year. Has been there ever since. The cares of life bother him not at all. Interested in both rhyme and reason. And now the surge of life envelops him.

Editors' Message

It is always difficult to write something like this. There is a tendency to want to be profound which often degenerates to the use of trite cliches. We'll try not to. The first and most important thing that we want to say is thank you, to Father Kelly and Principal Dunphy particularly and the administration generally. Without their support — financial and moral — there would not be a year-book. Father Kelly, Principal Dunphy and Pat Buckley were involved with Windrose before we were. They had a dream and we are grateful that they gave us the chance to transform that dream to a reality.

This is not your typical editor's message. We are not going to say that we had a lot of fun and made a lot of friends. It was not always a lot of fun; it was always a lot of work. It was, however, a good experience. We learned new skills by sharing our areas of expertise, and we learned the meaning of patience, toleration and co-operation. And yes, we did become friends.

Putting together a yearbook was more complicated and time consuming than we anticipated. Starting late was a real disadvantage. This project did not get off the ground until November and that made it impossible for us to do all the things that we had planned. We wanted to capture the spirit of St. Michael's — we've included as many of the events and people on campus as we could. We do not have everything that we would like to, or that we feel a good yearbook should have. We did, however, do our best. We tried, we learned, we laughed, we cried, we survived! If Windrose '82 does indeed revive a St. Michael's tradition then we will have achieved one of our dreams.

Thanks to our staff and to our friends — for putting up with us. And thanks again to Pat Buckley for having faith in us.

When you are old and grey and full of sleep,
And nodding by the fire, take down this book,
And slowly read, and dream...
